All 74 billion people who once inhabited the Earth, are invited to a party. The invitations state

Want to keep reading? Subscribe and save nearly 40%.

Already a subscriber? Sign in below.

Email address
Password

SIGN IN

Remember me
Link your subscription
Forgot password?
Buy this issue!

FICTION

INTERVIEW

POETRY

Diane Ackerman
Still Life

Georgia Alwan
Children/Evolution

Susan Bartels
All My Orifices Are Too Small

Stuart Dybek
Sunday at the Zoo

Dean Faulwell
Two Poems

Linda Gregg
Sigismundo

Tom Hansen
Final Instructions for the Magician

Jonathan Holden
Roller Coaster

Paul Hoover
Two Poems

Vickie Karp
A Three Weeks Love Poem

Joan Larkin
Self-Pity

Naomi Lazard
Grand Opening

Jay Meek
Two Poems
Fully Half Korean
By Michael Croley
April 19, 2019

Why Does This Feel So Bad?
By Jenny Odell
April 19, 2019

So What If Lincoln Was Gay?
By Louis Bayard
April 16, 2019
The Royally Radical Life of Margaret Cavendish
By Michael Robbins
April 15, 2019

Herzog in the Jungle
By Caitlin Love
December 9, 2016

The Making of Plimpton!
By Tom Bean and Luke Poling
June 21, 2012

Staff Picks: Sapphics, Scandals, and Skies
By The Paris Review
April 19, 2019
Staff Picks: Horses, Heaney, and Hypebeasts
By The Paris Review
April 12, 2019

Ernest Hemingway
The Art of Fiction No. 21
Cipriani, October 2003
T ...
SUGGESTED READING

Staff Picks: Sapphics, Scandals, and Skies
By The Paris Review  April 19, 2019
T ...

THE DAILY
THIS WEEK’S READING

David McCullough, The Art of Biography No. 2
By David McCullough
” ...

FROM THE ARCHIVE, ISSUE 152
INTERVIEW

NEWSLETTER

Sign up for the The Paris Review newsletter and keep up with news, parties, readings, and more.

Enter email address

SIGN UP
EVENTS
Join the writers and staff of The Paris Review at our next event.

STORE
Visit our store to buy archival issues of the magazine, prints, T-shirts, and accessories.
Throw the Ultimate Party: Do you want to have an Ultimate Party? Do you want to throw the kind of party that everyone's talking about Monday morning at work or better yet, the kind of party people don't quite remember what happened at? Sure, anyone can throw a party. Thro... Do you want to have an Ultimate Party? Do you want to throw the kind of party that everyone's talking about Monday morning at work or better yet, the kind of party people don't quite remember what happened at? Sure, anyone can throw a party. Samus Jay Presents - The Ultimate Party Mash Up Pack Volume 1. 04:51. Jesse James Chunky Dip - Party Essentials Vol 1.  X-Change Ultimate Rejects - Make the Party Go Boom FREE DOWNLOAD. 03:24. iHeartRadio Ultimate Pool Party VIP Winner 2013. Rich famous present lavish the ultimate british pool party sat 6th jan 2018 all white edition. 22:53.